ON INSANITY WILL NOW BE IN THE LIMELIGHT AT THE THAW TRIAL.

COMSTOCK ON STAND

And Says Thaw Spoke to Him About
White's Treatment of Girls—
Harry's Will Read.

New York, Jan. 22.—The battle of the mental experts in the Thaw case is impending. There are but few lay witnesses left for the defense to call and Littleton announced that they would probably complete their testimony before adjournment today. Then the actual work of showing Thaw's irrationality will be begun. The present plan is to call Dr. Britton D. Evans, head of the Morristown, N. J., hospital for the insane, as the first recognized expert. He is to be followed by Dr. Wagner, superintendent of the Binghamton, N. Y., State hospital, and some half dozen others.

There is considerable interest now as to the witnesses Jerome will call in rebuttal.

The waiter who served the party at Martin's previous to their going to the garden roof and the headwaiter there are both under subpoena. Jerome contends Thaw was drunk at the theatre that night and would like to prove it if he can.

Anthony Comstock, head of the Society for the Prevention of Vice, the next witness, swore that Thaw called at his office in February, 1904, by appointment. He told Comstock that a well known New Yorker was in the habit of ruining young girls by drugging them in his apartments at 122, Twenty-second street, witness not designating either west or east. He next saw Thaw in November of that year after first having received a letter from him, dated in Paris, France. Comstock had a copy of this letter which he identified. It came, witness swore, by registered mail. Thaw also sent him another letter in November.

Miss Frances E. Pierce, the first witness today, was called to identify her signature to the will executed by Thaw on the evening of his marriage. The will contained bequests which Littleton argues indicated the mental irresponsibility of his client.

The witness identified Thaw's signature to both the will and codicil after which they were offered in evidence. Jerome objected, holding that the witness was unable to swear the document was in the same condition and read the same when she signed it. A lengthy technical legal discussion followed.

Justice Dowling finally ruled that the codicil could be admitted, most of it being in the handwriting of the defendant. The offer of the will in evidence was then temporarily withdrawn.

The codicil as read was admitted at the last trial. It will be remembered that it set aside $10,000 to be paid to Anthony Comstock and three other leaders of the anti-vice society to be used in prosecuting Stanford White and others mentioned for wronging certain young girls. The names of several well known women of the stage were mentioned as possible claimants against White and his associates.

KILLS NEWSPAPER MAN

And Then Herself in a Big New York
Department Store—A Panic Ensued.

New York, Jan. 22.—Several hundred diners at Macy's cafe in the big department store in Broadway, were thrown into a panic today by a sensational murder and suicide. A woman, said by the police to be Mrs. Robert Clark, stepped out of an elevator and up to a table at which Frank Brady, advertising solicitor on the Evening Telegram, was luncheon. Drawing a revolver from a huge muff, Mrs. Clark fired five bullets at Brady, all of which took effect. The man slid from his chair under the table dead. Then dropping the gun Mrs. Clark drew a second revolver from her muff, and placing it to her stomach pulled the trigger. She did not fall, however, and lifting the gun to her head sent a second bullet crashing into her brain. She died at a hospital shortly afterward.

Women screamed, and everyone attempted to get to cover as the woman continued firing. Tables were turned over and women fainted and were trampled on. When a search was made of the body of the woman a third revolver was found in her hand bag.

HUGHES

ANNOUNCES HIMSELF SQUARELY
AS BEING IN LINE FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

WILL BE MENACE TO TAFT

Restates Position—Will Take No Part in Factional Troubles But Wants Party to Decide.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Governor Hughes last night placed himself squarely in line for the presidential nomination by writing a letter in which he outlined his views on the subject.

This letter, which is addressed to James S. Lehman, chairman of the Republican club of 25 named recently to promote his candidacy. It reads as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Lehman:—Your letter of the 18th has been received. I am deeply sensible of the honor conferred upon me by my fellow-members of the Republican club in the passage of the resolution to which you refer, and it will give me pleasure to accept the invitation.

"It is my desire that the sentiment of the party shall have the freest expression and that such action shall be taken as will be for the best interests. I do not seek office, nor shall I attempt to influence the selection or vote of any delegate. The state administration must continue to be impartial and must not be tributary to any candidacy.

"I have no interest in any factional controversy, and desire above all things that there shall be deliberation, honest expression of the party will, and harmony of effort.

"The matter is one for the party to decide, and whatever its decision I shall be content.

"I shall be glad to meet with the members of the club as you suggest, and to make such further statement as may be appropriate.

"I do not see how it will be possible to have such a meeting before the evening of January 31st. And if that date suits your convenience, arrangements for the meeting may be made accordingly.

"Very truly yours,
"CHAS. E. HUGHES."

"A BEAUTIFUL DAY" WAS TAFT'S COMMENT

Washington, Jan. 22.—Representative Burton of Ohio Taft's chief boomer, today authorized the following statement:

"The announcement of Governor Hughes that he is a candidate for the presidency does not change the situation. It was known that he was a receptive candidate. Secretary Taft is so far in the lead that the announcement of the active candidacy of Hughes or any one else, could have no effect. Taft will be the nominee of the Republicans at Chicago."

The President and Secretary Taft had a long conference at the White House today. Taft was asked what he thought of Hughes' announcement. He replied, "What a beautiful day it is."

WEALTHY OIL MAN PREFERRED DEATH TO HIS DISGRACE

Cleveland, Jan. 22.—Despondent because of his arrest on a charge of using the mails to defraud, John M. Bachert, a wealthy oil man, is at the point of death today as the result of an attempt at suicide. It was charged that, as proprietor of the Reliance Oil and Grease company he had sought to defraud other business concerns. Bachert felt the disgrace keenly. He was found by Mrs. Bachert unconscious in his office last night. When found Bachert had fallen against a hot stove. Blood was flowing from a deep gash in his head and his hands were burned. It is believed he took morphine.

SENATOR ALDRICH AUTHOR OF FINANCIAL BILL WILL HAVE COLLEAGUE GEO. P. WETMORE HAVING BEEN ELECTED SENATOR FROM RHODE ISLAND

SENATOR ALDRICH

Providence, R. I., Jan. 22.—The state of Rhode Island, after being represented by a single United States Senator for the past year, Tuesday chose George Peabody Wetmore as the colleague of Senator Aldrich, in Washington. He succeeds himself, his previous term having terminated in 1906.

The election was on a strict party vote, Mr. Wetmore, the Republican candidate, winning over Colonel R. H. I. Goddard. Five Republicans cast a complimentary vote for Col. Samuel Pomeroy Colt.

A year ago the senatorial deadlock in Rhode Island lasted during the entire session of the general assembly, from January until April. More than a hundred ballots were taken. The candidates were Col. R. H. I. Goddard, Democrat; Col. Samuel P. Colt, Reform Republican, and G. P. Wetmore, Republican. In the balloting last year, Col. Colt led Mr. Wetmore by a small margin.

MITCHELL REFUSES TO ACCEPT GIFT OF THE MINERS

SAYS THAT MONEY MUST BE RI-FUNDED OR GIVEN TO HIS WIFE.

To be Used for the Education of Their Children—Overcome by Tokens of Esteem.

Indianapolis, Jan. 22.—With the same broad smile and irrepressible good humor, with the same quiet dignity and fearlessness and sincerity that has won for him the love of his fellows and the respect and recognition of employers and the highest public officials in the land, qualities which have placed him in the forefront of the labor leaders of the world, John Mitchell Tuesday called to order the last convention of the United Mine Workers of America, over which he will preside as president.

It was with the same dignity and force that he read his annual address.

With becoming modesty he only took a very short time to speak of himself and his retirement from the high office.

He was appreciative but unmoved even when a loving son was presented to him by the Belleville, Ill., local union, soon after the convention was opened. But he was completely routed when President Thomas Gibson of the Montana-Wyoming local took the floor and presented the president with a check for $2700. For once in his life Mitchell seemed to be at a complete loss for power of expression but finally said:

"Gentlemen, (then) you must return this money to the men with my thanks or give it to my wife, who probably has sacrificed more to this cause than I have myself and I prefer that you take it back, but if you can't do that without giving offense I suggest that it be sent to Mrs. Mitchell that it may be used to educate our little ones."

STATE BANK CLOSED

Pittsburg, Jan. 22.—The Traders' and Mechanics' bank, a state institution, was closed today, by order of the state bank examiner. The institution has a paid up capital of $100,000, and its deposits are estimated at $360,000.

DEMOCRATS HAVE CHANCE

TO SWEEP NEW YORK AND POS-SIBLY THE NATION, SAY
POLITICIANS

If the Battle Between Roosevelt and Taft Forces and Hughes is to Be Fought Out.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The announcement by Gov. Hughes that he will consent to become a presidential candidate has set politicians of both parties talking. By making the announcement the governor instantaneously changes himself from a mystery to a menace to the Taft followers, and opens up the prospect of the bitterest kind of a battle in the Empire state. The feud between the war minister and Senator Foraker in Ohio divides into very small proportions in comparison, for if the fight should be carried to a finish between the Roosevelt-Taft forces and the Hughes hosts, it is not at all unlikely that the Democrats will sweep the state, and possibly the nation.

"Hughes was simply smoked out," commented a friend of Secretary Taft. "He finally realized that if he were to prevent New York Republicans from being delivered to Taft it was up to him to get busy right away. It is very doubtful that the governor has much chance now. He has waited too long."

NEW YORK FOR BRYAN AT DENVER

New York, Jan. 22.—New York will support Bryan in the Denver convention. This, leading Democrats here declare today, is the real significance of the calling off of the proposed conference of conservative Democrats called to meet at the Waldorf on Thursday. This meeting had been heralded as an anti-Bryan gathering. The lack of support for the anti-Bryan movement is assigned as a reason for calling off the gathering.

SENATOR DAVIS LEFT HIS HOME AFTER QUARREL

New York, Jan. 22.—A Washington dispatch says: As a result of the bitterness engendered by thoughts of his coming marriage with Miss Maud Ashford, Senator Henry Gassaway Davis of West Virginia, who ran for Vice President on the Democratic ticket in 1904, has quarreled with his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Lee, packed his baggage and moved to the Shoreham Hotel.

It is understood that despite all family opposition—and on the part of Mrs. Lee and her elder sister, the wife of Senator Stephen B. Elkins—that opposition has been bitter and continuous, the marriage will take place, though when and where nobody can now say, as the date has not been decided upon.

QUEENS COVETED JEWELLED TIARA OF MME NORDICA

When Embellished With $10,000
Emerald Which Famous Prima
Donna Has Lost.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Mme. Lillian Norda is all but inconsolable over the loss of an emerald pendant valued at $10,000, but for which, because of its associations, she would not have taken triple that sum.

While her audience noted no faltering of her glorious voice, she herself declared that it was an effort for her to sing.

The emerald, a pear shaped pendant, was one inch long, and was detachable, so that she could wear it in her diamond tiara.

Mme. Norda has worn the pendant for the second time only at a reception and musical given here in Sherris, New York, a week ago last Saturday night, and it was while arranging her jewels preparatory to coming to Chicago to appear with the San Carlo opera company that the maid discovered the huge and highly valued emerald missing.

The tiara, which was purchased abroad, was one of a rare collection of emeralds, which Norda has been 20 years in gathering, and among which is a necklace of cabochon emeralds which Carrier of Paris, says are the finest matched emeralds in the world.

The last pendant was one of two in

GLARING INCONSISTENCY

Two Weeks "Delay" for Very Necessary Deliberation on the Part of a Democratic Council

Causes the Newspaper to Become Frantic That Never Had a Word of Criticism Against a Whole Year's Delay by a Repub- lican Council.

The esteemed American-Tribune on Tuesday evening indulged in a very extravagant criticism of the city council's action in not railroading through the proposed $85,000 water works bond issue, and sets up a pharisaical wail that by such action there is to be a TWO WEEKS DELAY of the proposed ordinance.

It is certainly remarkable that the American-Tribune should get so terribly exercised over a two weeks' delay of this water works proposition by a Democratic City Council when the same newspaper never offered a word of objection to a delay of a WHOLE YEAR by a Republican Council.

The late Republican Board of Service and City Council came into power on January 1, 1906. And yet it was not until October 1, 1906, NINE MONTHS THEREAFTER, that said Board of Service under the leadership of its late "expert" made an official report to the Council setting forth the amount of additional money necessary to be expended to complete the water works plant that had already been contracted for by the former Service Board, which sum was fixed at $281,000.

Then it was not until the 19th of November thereafter, SEVEN WEEKS STILL LATER, that the Council passed the ordinance to submit the $281,000 bond issue to a vote of the people.

And the people were not given an opportunity to vote on the question until December 31, 1906, although the vote could have been submitted at the previous general election in November, had the Council taken proper action in proper time.

Yet during all these months and months of delay not a word of complaint or criticism was to be seen in the columns of the American-Tribune.

But now the same paper that was so profoundly indifferent to all those months of delay on the part of the late Republican council, is fairly in a fit of frenzy over a delay of a couple of weeks because a Democratic council is desirous of acquainting itself with the important facts concerning her possession which, when detached and worn in her diamond tiara, made it a thing of beauty so rare that queens have coveted it.

WEDS IN JAIL.

East Liverpool, Jan. 22.—Pretty Lena Findley proved her love for Roy Winters by marrying him yesterday, while the young man is in the New Cumberland jail, awaiting trial at the spring term of court for absconding with $800. The ceremony was performed in the sheriff's office.

VERY SERIOUS OPERATION ON C. L. DARROW

Los Angeles, Jan. 22.—Clarence Darrow, the Chicago attorney who has been seriously ill in this city for several weeks with mastoiditis, was operated upon Tuesday. The operation which involved a deep incision and cutting a bone behind the ear, was a very serious one. Much pus was found in the bone. Mr. Darrow rallied, but the result cannot be determined for a day or two.

SOCIETY EDITOR DIES.

Dayton, Jan. 22.—Mrs. Georgeanna Whitmann, for a number of years connected with the local press, died yesterday following a brief illness. She became society editor of the Dayton Journal several months ago upon the death of Miss Sheitenbach.

the present condition of the water works proposition.

The facts and figures thus desired should be verified by official authority, and councilmen very properly think they should be MADE KNOWN TO THE PUBLIC as well as to themselves personally.

In fact all that was done by the Republican Service Board, under its late "expert" manager, and the Republican council could have been accomplished in less than half the time that they had to do it in, and at least a WHOLE YEAR was frittered away. Yet the American-Tribune becomes frantic because the Democratic council desires time for proper deliberation that may cause the awful delay of two weeks.

In this same connection the American-Tribune goes out of its way to assail Councilman Kuster, because he made a suggestion to the council regarding some plan of ascertaining whether the old water works could be bought at a price that would be of an advantage to the city, or whether it is any use to give any further thought of making such purchase at any price whatever.

Mr. Kuster distinctly states that that is the entire scope of his suggestion and nothing more.

But let us gently refer to another parallel case to test the consistency on the American-Tribune on this subject.

It was Mr. Charles Conrad, Republican Councilman, who last summer introduced the ordinance to submit to the people the $200,000 proposition to purchase the old water works. And it was by a unanimous vote of the Republican Councilmen that the ordinance was passed. But the overwhelming defeat of the proposition never for a moment interfered with the American-Tribune's admiration and high regard for Mr. Conrad. After the proposition had been voted down Mr. Conrad was nominated by the Republican city convention for Member of the School Board and the American-Tribune enthusiastically supported him and was especially rejoiced that he was elected.

More anon on this subject.

CONVENTION HALL AT DENVER SEATS 14,000 PERSONS

Denver, Jan. 22.—Auditorium plans accepted yesterday by the Democratic national committee on arrangements for the national committee provide for seats for 14,000 persons in the convention hall.

Arrangements were made whereby the Denver convention league will furnish the necessary chairs and turn the auditorium over to the Democratic committee ready for use and the committee will provide the decorations and music for the convention.

SIGNS SHOWED A FIERCE STRUGGLE BEFORE SHE DIED

Gallipolis, O., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Wm. Phillips, who lives near Domington, was found dead in a field near her home last night. Mrs. Phillips had started to visit neighbors. Evidence of a struggle were plainly visible in the field. Coroner Rowley of Meigs county made an examination. There are mysterious features surrounding the case and as Mrs. Phillips' body shows no signs of outward injuries, it is believed poison may have been used.

VORYS

TAFT'S CAMPAIGN MANAGER IS SATISFIED WITH COMMITTEE'S DELEGATES.

THEY WILL BE SEATED

According to Leaders of the Heisey-Hamilton Faction—Republican Organ Straddles.

The Heisey-Hamilton faction of the Republican party are much excited over the call issued for the mass convention which was held Wednesday afternoon at the Hall.

One of the leaders in speaking of the matter to an Advocate representative, stated that word had been received from Commander Vorys that any delegates so selected would not be seated in the convention, and in case of contest the central committee's delegates would be recognized by the credential committee of the state convention.

On the other hand the Taft faction of the party are claiming that the Taft headquarters asked for the mass meeting in Licking county, and are claiming that the other faction, who controlled Monday's meeting of the central committee and named eleven delegates are preparing to give them the double cross.

This was denied by one of the leaders who was an active participant in the committee meeting. He claimed that the eleven men were all Taft men, first, last, and all the time. Each and everyone of them will sign an affidavit to this effect so he claimed.

Taft people eagerly perused the columns of the American Tribune the official organ of the party, which carries the secretary's name at its masthead, for the announcement of the call. It was strangely missing and Wednesday morning the following bulletin was posted in the window of the American Tribune:

BULLETIN.

"This paper is not in sympathy with the mass convention called for today. It endorses the action of the County Central Committee of Monday, January 20, 1908, the 11 Taft delegates selected by it and condemns the useless expenditure of money for a primary, there being no contest.

A great many of the Republicans are trying to figure just where they are "at." It is a well known fact that the committee's action Monday was controlled by the Foraker element as they were in control by a majority of more than two to one. They named the delegation and the Taft people are claiming that a part of them are Foraker sympathizers hence the call for the mass convention.

It is evident from appearances that the American Tribune is trying to straddle and please the Foraker faction, who seem to have things their own way in Licking county at present.

PRIMARIES

MAY BE CALLED WITHIN FIVE DAYS BY THE OLD CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

A. A. Stasel Arrives at Mass Meeting and Pours Oil on the Troubled Waters.

The mass meeting at Music Hall Wednesday afternoon was attended by quite a few Republicans, about 95 per cent of whom were residents of this city.

Arthur Wyeth of Johnstown, was elected chairman and Joseph Pugh of this city, secretary.

Judge Walter A. Irwin introduced a resolution the tenor of which state that inasmuch as the Republican central committee of the county had disobeyed the call of the state central committee, that they be ousted from their offices and that same be declared vacant. Judge Irwin made an impassioned speech in favor of his resolution and it was about to be carried with a rush when Attorney A. A. Stasel appeared and poured oil on the troubled waters. He offered an amendment to the resolution of Judge Irwin the effect of which was that the central committee be notified that unless they make arrangements to call a primary within five days a provisional committee of ten will be appointed who shall petition the county board of elections to grant permission to hold such primary. Mr. Stasel stated that Chairman Montgomery, of the central committee was present, and had agreed to comply with the provisions of the amendment. It was then put before the meeting and carried.

The provisional committee was then appointed as follows: N. C. Sherburne, D. W. Murphy, Frank L. Beggs, F. M. Black, John Wilson, James Hoover, W. C. Hull, L. G. Russell, A. O. Baker and D. S. Shower.

The committee met on the stage immediately after appointment and recommended that the following names be placed upon the ticket to be elected at the primaries, and who shall constitute the delegates to the state convention: C. D. Watkins, T. B. Ide, C. H. D. Burch, Stanton Hoover, Chas. M. Johnston, Edward Simpson, A. M. Smith, Dr. C. B. Hatch, Dr. J. P. Lattimer, Owen Nash and Carl Norpell. These delegates are the same as those named by the central committee Monday.

The candidacy of Col. M. M. Gillett for state treasurer was endorsed by the meeting.

FORAKER MEN ARE PLEASED

Columbus, Jan. 22.—Much to the delight of the Forakerites, the Huffman primary election bill will probably be reported to the Senate Wednesday afternoon. The committee on elections Wednesday endorsed the measure. Few changes were made in it. It is said by the Foraker faction that its passage before February 11, will annul the call for the primaries made by the Taft Central Committee.

KID M'COY TOOK A HAND

And Conductor Who Was Brutally Kicking Man and Motorman are Nursing Sore Heads.

New York, Jan. 22.—Because Kid McCoy decided last night to play a brief role of the avenger of innocence a certain rough street car conductor and an equally rude motorman are nursing extremely sore heads today. McCoy was enjoying a ride in his automobile when he saw a conductor and a passenger from a car and began kicking him. McCoy was out in a moment.

"Guess that's about enough of that," he announced.

The conductor expressed a different opinion and squared off to the boxing McCoy, disliking a street affray explained.

"I'm Kid McCoy, and can fight please don't."

The conductor didn't believe him then, but does now. He aimed a blow at McCoy, saying "Take that." But McCoy didn't. Instead the conductor got a jolt that dropped him in the street. Just then the motorman rushed up. One more swipe and he had joined the slumber party in the street. McCoy waited until the men came to, helped them out of their car and then continued his ride.

STARTLING ARE FIGURES

Over 23,000 Casualties on American Railroads in Three Months, Over 1200 Being Killed.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Startling figures appear in an accident bulletin just issued by the interstate commerce commission covering the months of July, August and September, 1907. The report shows that the number of casualties on railroads during that quarterly period were 23,063, including 1,329 killed and 21,734 injured.

This is an increase of 177 in the number killed and 3,036 in the number injured, as compared with the corresponding period of 1906.

Collisions and derailments in the quarter numbered 4,279, including 2,245 collisions and 2,034 derailments, of which 320 collisions and 222 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage to cars, engines and roadway by these accidents amounted to $3,605,696. This shows an increase in the number of collisions and derailments of 607 over the corresponding period of 1906.

SHAW TO RESIGN PRESIDENCY OF TRUST COMPANY

New York, Jan. 22.—Former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, denied today that he has resigned the presidency of the Carnegie Trust company. It is likely he will retire March 1, however, he added, having agreed to sell his holdings. A formal statement is given out by Shaw in which he declines to discuss his political ambitions, if he has any. He admits that difference with the chief stockholders is responsible for his resignation.

WEDDING GARMENTS BECAME SHROUDS

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Because they were old and without means to keep them from becoming a public burden, John Fern and his wife, 63 and 77 respectively, donned their wedding clothes, then took enough carbide acid to bring death. Their bodies were found at their home, 2852 W. 12th street, by Charles Uhler and wife who had called.

MAKE STUDY OF VIVISECTION IN NEW YORK.

INJECTING YOKING INTO A GUINEA PIG. PHOTOGRAPH MADE ESPECIALLY FOR THE NEWARK ADVOCATE BY THE HEALTH DEPARTMENT LABORATORY.

New York, Jan. 22.—There are more vivisections under the authority of the city of New York and by employees of the city than in all the private institutions in this vicinity, and I have yet to hear of a case of cruelty or brutality in connection with them," said Health Commissioner Darlington.

"We think we have done a great deal of good through experiments on living animals, and that the animals' lives are well lost in the search for relief from human suffering.

"Our principal work is the production of protective sera, and of these the most important product is the diphtheria antitoxin. By the use of diphtheria antitoxin the actual number of cases of diphtheria in New York is now far less than it was ten years ago, and the number of deaths is less than one-quarter. The preventive use of diphtheria antitoxin is only in its infancy but ninety per cent of all cases receive it in treatment. If it were used as extensively in prevention the amount of diphtheria would certainly be cut in half.

"Guinea pigs have no sensibility," said one of the physicians, as he took a squirming specimen of the genus cavy from a cage. "It is almost all done with the hypodermic syringe," said the doctor, suiting the action to the word and plunging the needle into the little animal, that squatted with shrill, whistling sound, that seemed too loud for such a small creature to produce. It took two men to inoculate one guinea pig, one of them holding the animal with both hands as it struggled desperately to free itself.

For the preparation of the sera, themselves fifteen horses are kept in a stable in Avenue D. One horse, suffering from tetanus, was held up in a sling. The others stood in their stalls and munched their hay just as any ordinary truck horse might do. While the photographer was present the process of inoculation was performed by Dr. Silliman in charge of this part of the work. An attendant carried a short stick with a loop of rope attached to one end, as the horse was led out of the stable into the yard

As soon as the doctors were ready the loop was placed about the horse's lip, and then, by simply twisting the stick, such a painful pressure could be brought to bear that the horse quickly found any attempt to struggle would hurt, and stood still.

"They make more fuss about the inoculation than they do over the bleeding," said Dr. Silliman, as he plunged the big hypodermic needle into the horse's shoulder. The horse winced in corroboration of his words and stood trembling as the assistant worked the syringe that transferred the diphtheria virus from a bottle into the animal's veins.

INOCULATING A HORSE FOR DIPHTHERIA ANTI-TOXIN.

EARLIER NEWARK

(By Col. Charles H. Kibler)

In and about 1860 one could fill his market basket with meats, fruit and vegetables for about one dollar. Then, think of good spring chickens for $1 per dozen, eggs for 8 to 10 cents per dozen, and good butter at 10 to 12 1/2 cents per pound. In those days, in winter, we did not much depend upon the market house or groceries for meats, fruits and vegetables. These foods were stored in our cellars and smoke houses. We invested in them in a sort of wholesale way. Almost every householder fattened hogs for family use. Beef was bought by the quarter or half. Potatoes, apples and turnips were purchased by bushels and stored in the cellars. In the late fall, the gardens were decorated with cabbage mounds, with the stalks and roots in the air. Every housewife had her favorite recipe for curing hams, shoulders, breakfast bacon, pickled pork and corned beef. Is it fancy that the hams thus cured were as superior in sweetness, tenderness and taste, to the tough leathery hams of commerce as the present tomato with its "college education" is superior to the tomato, called "love apples," of earlier days?

In 1860 the North Fork creek was crossed by an old wooden bridge. It was dark and unsavory. It was said that a prominent citizen who lived on the east side of the stream and whose business called him at night to the west side of the village, on going home passed over on the wagon trail with a pistol in each hand in preparation for a possible footpad. I doubt that it is generally known that in the earliest history of the village of Newark that stream was crossed by a ferry. At a court of Common Pleas at its January term 1812, appears this entry: (I have given the spelling as it appears.) "Ordered that John Van Buren receive a license to ferry across the North Fork of Licking creek, opposite the town free from any expense. It being the opinion of the court that a ferry would not be profitable enough to pay a tax." The stream, therefore, has evidently become somewhat "dry."

In 1858 and 1859 the municipal elections were really non-partisan

They were inexpensive to the candidates. I think two or three dollars to the candidate, to pay for the printing of tickets were the whole expense. I remember that in 1859 I was re-elected to the mayoralty by a handsome majority. It was not on account of my great popularity, but from the fact that my worthy opponent was very unpopular. Another circumstance probably aided me. A few weeks before the election the storm had visited our house and brought twin boys. Some of the voters may have thought that, with the visitation, I would need the salary of the office for care and nurture of the twins. If you estimate the expense of the care and nurture of one child as one, the care and nurture of two should be represented by three.

The Victim of Drink Needs Curing Treatment

Drink first degrades ambition, lowers up ties, if from that, it kills and buries love and eventually destroys the family life.

Some of the best men in the world have been victims of drink and if there is not some remedy in your family that is afflicted with this disease, you are indeed fortunate.

Drink destroys the will power, and when a drunkard wants to do what you tell him to do, he wants a thousand times more than you to do it. He is not cured until it is necessary to destroy the craving, and this craving will be destroyed.

It destroys the desire for liquor, so that the drunkard will not only abstain from the use of alcohol, but will also abstain from the use of all other intoxicating drinks, and will be able to perform his duty.

The remedy is absolutely harmless, as the drunkard is not injured in any way, and he can continue to work and earn his money, and he can be cured in a few days. The price of the cure is $1.00, and the cure is guaranteed.

Write to the proprietor, No. 1, which is the only place where the cure can be obtained. The proprietor is a man of honor, and he will not sell the cure to anyone who is not a man of honor. The cure is guaranteed, and the price is $1.00.

IN POLICE COURT

Probably the most surprised man in Newark last night was Turnkey Swank at the city prison, when he went into the kitchen at the prison and found a bareless stranger standing there, warming himself at the stove. Swank looked, and the man looked, then the officer stared when the man smiled and said "Good evening."

It didn't take the proprietor of the "pe house" long to get into action and when it was all over, George Wright, claiming the "Lone Star" state as his home, was testing safely behind the prison doors. When called in police court this morning he said he was a carpenter by trade, and had been laboring at one of the local glass houses, but was now out of a job.

He admitted he "took on a few" yesterday and last night when he came he inquired as to the location of the city prison. He found it all right, but said he went where the lights were and landed in the kitchen. He drew a dollar and costs.

A one leaved "ho" answering to the name of James McManus was arrested by Officer Swank and charged with carrying a very large package. He was given a suspended sentence of $5 and costs and ordered out of town.

MANY CASES HERE

Reports Many Cases of Rheumatism and Gives Simple Remedy to Relieve.

Thousands of men and women who have felt the sting and torture of this dread disease, which is no respecter of age, persons, sex, color or rank, will be interested to know that while for many years rheumatism was considered an incurable disease, now it is one of the easiest afflictions of the human body to conquer. Medical science has proven it not a distinct disease in itself, but a symptom caused by inactive kidneys. Rheumatism is uric acid in the blood and other waste products of the system which should be filtered and strained out in the form of urine. The function of the kidneys is to sift these poisons and acids out and keep the blood clean and pure. The kidneys, however, are of sponge-like substance, the holes or pores of which will sometimes, either from overwork, cold or exposure become clogged and inactive, and failing in their function of eliminating these poisons from the blood, they remain in the veins, decompose and settling about the joints and muscles, cause the untold suffering and pain of rheumatism and backache, often producing complications of bladder and urinary disease, weakness, etc.

The following simple prescription is said to relieve the worst cases of rheumatism because of its direct action upon the blood and kidneys, relieving, too, the most severe forms of bladder and urinary troubles: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be had from any good prescription pharmacy, and are absolutely harmless and safe to use at any time.

How to Cure Asthma With Coffee. Coffee is a very excellent remedy for asthma. Those who do not know how to cut short their attacks and have not tried coffee should do so by all means, says Family Doctor. It often succeeds admirably when almost everything else has failed. There are one or two little points to be attended to in taking coffee for asthma. In the first place, it should be very strong—in fact, perfectly black. Weak coffee does more harm than good. If made very strong, much of it need not be taken. A large quantity is a positive disadvantage, for it is less rapidly absorbed and only distends the stomach. Then it should be given without sugar or milk, pure coffee. It should be given on an empty stomach, for when taken on a full stomach it often does harm by putting a stop to the process of digestion.

Why Currants Are Nutritious. The reason why currants are so remarkably nutritious is that they consist of a very large degree of saccharin in its most easily digestible form—that of grape sugar. The piquant flavor of the currant which adds so much to its pleasantness as a food, is derived from the valuable percentage of tartaric acid which the berry contains. Potash is also present in the form of cream of tartar and is undoubtedly of dietetic value.—Ladies' Pictorial.

How to Amuse Children. A quiet, rainy day game for children old enough to read is to cut out all the animals and birds you can find; then write the names of each on small slips of paper, let the children have one corner of the room for a playground, and let them place all the animals on the floor; then find the name of each one. It will not only amuse them for hours, but they will soon learn to know all the different kinds of animals and birds. Give them crayons and let them color them.

Mr. Wright stated that the swindler was evidently an amateur at the business, judging from his manner. He claimed that the check had been drawn by his father, living near Granville. There is no account in the bank under the name of Harry Straten, and the officials know of no such man.

REBELS PENNED IN BY LOYAL ARMY. Fort au Prince, Haiti, Jan. 22—Latest advices from the seat of revolutionary activity are that the local army has the rebels penned in Gonaives, but seems to be hesitating to rush their position there. The rebels have met with nothing but defeat thus far and indications are that they would be glad to get away if they could. They are naturally unwilling to surrender, however, as there is no doubt President Alexis' government will make short work of all the leaders who may fall into its hands.

A number of communications on the water works question were crowded out of the Advocate's columns today. TAFT IS A PROXY
CANDIDATE---UNION
LABOR AGAINST HIM

Columbus, Jan. 22.—Aside from the wide spread opposition with which the Taft bosses are being met in Ohio, Mr. Vorys has been experiencing no less trouble in many other states throughout the Union.

Taft organs have followed out the plan of claiming everything in sight. They have said that Michigan, Kentucky and in fact the entire South is solid for Mr. Taft. According to the newspapers in these various localities these claims seem to be unsubstantiated.

T. H. Newberry, assistant secretary of the navy, who, of course, through Federal patronage is a Taft man and who wanted to become delegate-at-large to the Republican National convention from Michigan, has withdrawn in favor of E. D. Stair, an anti-Taft man, who is most prominent in Michigan Republican politics, and who is the principal owner of the Detroit Free Press and the Detroit Journal.

So strong was the opposition to Mr. Newberry that he feared to oppose Mr. Stair lest the bitter fight now being waged in Ohio against Mr. Taft's bosses would be repeated in Michigan.

The Mountain Advocate of Bourbonville, Ky., has an editorial in which it says that "Senator J. B. Frazier is the greatest Republican statesman in Ohio today." The paper looks upon his candidacy as one of great possibility for the good of the nation and refers to William H. Taft as depending upon the fact that he is President Roosevelt's choice, and upon his strength, through his bosses, in securing delegates.

"SECRETARY TAFT IS ESSENTIALLY A PROXY CANDIDATE AND IS ACCEPTED IN THAT LIGHT BY THE COUNTRY AT LARGE."

That union labor is still fighting the "Court Candidate" is evident from the following which appeared in the news column of the Detroit Times:

"That union labor has not wavered from its position with regard to the candidacy of Taft for the Presidency is very evident from the sentiment expressed by delegates to the convention of brick layers now in session in Detroit. Aside from this the delegates are kept in supply of small cards which read like this:

ROBBERS ENTER
SLANES SALOON
TUESDAY NIGHT

For the third time in the past two years burglars entered the saloon of Charles Slane between 1 and 3 o'clock last night, helped themselves to about $9 in change, a few bottles of wine, overlooked $20 in the cash register of George Johnson, whose place of business adjoins that of Mr. Slane, and also about $10 in a small cash box in Mr. Slane's register, and escaped undiscovered.

The robbery is believed to be the work of amateurs. A pane was removed from a rear window of the Slane saloon after a "jimmy" failed to raise the window. The cash registers of both saloons were ransacked. The robbers failed to get the money from the smaller compartments of the register because of inability to open them. The boxes containing the larger amounts are operated from a key in front, and in an effort to get into one of them, the intruders pushed all the keys on the machine.

People sleeping near by heard voices, but thinking it was probably a couple of patrolmen making their rounds paid no attention. The matter is in the hands of the police.

AMUSEMENTS

MA'S NEW HUSBAND.

Play geers of all ages, and people who have never entered a theater, will find in "Ma's New Husband" entertainment of a wholesome, mirthful and enjoyable type. Tomorrow evening "Ma's New Husband" will be seen at the Auditorium. So many disappointments have been experienced in other cities through the lack of oversight on the part of the patrons to secure seats well in advance, Mana-ously introduced by the author that scenes of laugh compelling natural humor follow each other in rapid succession and that in the efforts to give a full measure of good things, opportunity is given several of the characters to effectively introduce a number of songs carefully selected to suit all tastes.

AT THE ORPHIUM.

The clever playlet produced at the gers Scott and Raynor recommend an early reservation.

THE CHOIR SINGER.

"The Choir Singer," which comes to the Auditorium for Saturday matinee and night performances has leaped at a bound into the affections of the theater going public in the cities where it has been presented. Besides containing a story of heart interest which in its strength has been compared with that in "Show Acres" and "Way Down East," comedy element has been added.

Orphium this week by Louis Chevalier and his two lady co-stars, is proving one of the best drawing cards the Orphium has had this season. The play is full of comedy and is a success at every performance. The rest of the bill is made up of Deverne and Van, Zangfretta and Mansfield, and Lasker, a juggler. "When Arra Wanda Married Barner Carner," the illustrated march song of the week is decidedly pleasing as sung by Ira B. Jones. The moving pictures are

MISS WALSH'S FINE ART.

"For one little moment of happiness, a whole lifetime of sorrow; for one little moment of joy, a whole ocean of tears."

The Kreutzer Sonata is noted for its grouping of beautiful lines. In fact, the whole play is a succession of pretty thoughts well put. From a dramatic standpoint, the work is powerful, and the tensile of it is at times so great that the several melodramatic scenes are reckoned as quite a relief, for after all we must have the climaxes and the full that follows them in order to relieve the general air of nervous tension that prevails.

From the standpoint of humanism—real, earnest humanism—the production of last night is painful; the story unfinished; the desire for the final triumphal happiness, unsatisfied. Yet the story is realistic. It must be when the leading role is in the hands of Miss Walsh. Those who have seen Miss Blanche Walsh in "The Resurrection" in past years, will readily recognize the lack of opportunity for her in her present vehicle, but to theater goers who missed witnessing her work in that crowning Tolstoy success, her ability can be wonderfully appreciated in "The Kreutzer Sonata."

The play is, figuratively speaking one of two acts—the second and the third. The first two acts pave the way for some exceptionally fine acting in the succeeding scenes.

The plot deals chiefly with Rafael Friedlander, a Russian Jew, his wife, Eva, his first daughter, Hattie, his second daughter, Celia, and Natacha, the family servant woman. Two of the strongest characters in the piece are Ephraim Fidler and his wife, Bella, parents of Gregoire, the musician who marries Hattie (the character taken by Miss Walsh) to save her honor.

At the opening of the first act, Hattie mourns the death of her husband, an American army officer, to whom she was secretly married in Russia. Her wealthy parents interposed a strong objection to the marriage because of religious difference.

The serious objections and discomfort heaped upon him has caused the young officer to suicide. The father of Hattie, thinking only of the disgrace that will be brought upon his family when her child is born, forces her to marry Gregoire, the musician. The musician assents with full knowledge of the conditions. Later, he meets Hattie's sister and becomes infatuated with her. After the removal of the whole family to America the torment heaped upon Hattie by her own people, including her mother, clandestine meetings of her husband and her sister, Celia, and their disgrace, lead her to desperation and the final tragedy, the murder of Gregoire and Celia, her husband and her sister. The final curtain falls on the scene with Hattie resting in her father's arms, wild with insane rage.

Miss Walsh portrays the character of the wronged woman most excellently, her beauty, wonderful power of emotion, and reading of her lines winning her hearers from the start. And she was supported by very clever character people, including William Wadsworth, as Samuel Friedlander; William Travers, as Ephraim Fidler; and Jessie Ralph as Bella Fidler. Mr. George Howard was not quite as much as desired in the role of Gregoire, but he looked the part and at times carried it very well. Miss Alma Kruger, in the character of Celia, is a woman of unusual ability and takes advantage of her many opportunities to display her ability in the difficult role.

"The Kreutzer Sonata" is a well written piece with the possible exception of the first two acts, which are entirely too disconnected, and was well acted last night. Good ideas in stage settings, and observance of details in this particular added materially to the production here.

A cup of coffee, a bit of sausage, and Mrs. Austin's buckwheat cakes is a breakfast fit for a king.

BROWBEATING AND FALSE FIGURES

Are the Methods Used to Force Through the Passage of County Option Bill.

Columbus, Jan. 22.—At a meeting of the Senate committee on temperance last Wednesday night one of the supporters of the Rose county option bill produced what purported to be reliable statistics showing that the per capita of savings in building associations in Kansas and Maine—two dry states—is over $100, while that in Ohio, New York and other wealthier wet states is about $16. The statement was added that the reason for this wide discrepancy is that the people of Kansas and Maine are saving their money, while those in Ohio, New York and other wet states are spending it in saloons.

The aspersion caused a well known Columbus statistician to look up the figures, and he has found that the facts are widely at variance with the statement made before the Senate temperance committee. According to the figures prepared by the local statistician, based upon population, the per capita savings in building associations in Ohio is $29.12, while that in Maine is but $4.94, and that in Kansas only $4.79. This is cited as one of the many cases of misrepresentation used by the friends of the Rose bill to influence votes in its favor.

The feeling is growing that the browbeating, bulldozing tactics and misrepresentation indulged in heretofore by some of the friends of temperance measures have about reached their limit, so far as the members of the House and Senate are concerned and that a continuance of these questionable methods in the future will hurt rather than help the Rose bill and any other temperance measure which may come up for consideration.

DO YOU ENJOY YOUR MEALS?

One of the Most Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

The burning question, to you is, "Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and the health you are entitled to?" If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is any way disordered, you are not going to be "yourself." You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

The world wants to smile and be cheerful, and unless you are cheerful and smile, at least, occasionally, you will have few friends, fewer opportunities, no success, and you will go down in defeat, defeated by dyspepsia and a bad stomach.

A good and thorough digestion has a quick, wonderful reaction upon the brain. You must have noticed it many times, for the brain and stomach are as intimately connected as a needle and its thread, one can hardly be used to advantage without the other. If your stomach is slow and lazy in digesting your food, it will produce at once a slow, lazy and cloudy influence upon your brain. Mark it! If your stomach has absolutely quit work, and fermentation is poisoning your vitals as a result, surely your brain is going to be sluggish and correspondingly depressed. No one need tell you that.

But why continue to suffer all the miseries and torments that a disordered stomach brings you?

If your stomach can not digest your food, what will? Where's the relief? Where's the cure?

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the relief and the cure. Why? Because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to THOROUGHLY and COMPLETELY DIGEST 3,000 GRAINS of any kind of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these little Dyspepsia Tablets are going to digest ALL the food and whatever food you put into your stomach? Science nowadays can digest food without having to use the stomach for it. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. They digest and digest thoroughly and well, anything and everything you eat.

So, if your stomach refuses to work or can't work, and you suffer from eructations, bloating, brash, fermentation, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn, irritation, indigestion, or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can eat all you want, what you want, whenever you want, if you use these tablets, and you can look the whole world in the face with a beaming eye and you will have a cheerful spirit, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything will look and taste delicious to you. That's life.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

The First Locomotive.

The first locomotive on the Baltimore and Ohio had sails attached. So did the cars. These sails were hoisted when the wind was in the right direction so as to help the locomotive.

The rivalry between the railroads using locomotives and those using horses was very bitter. In August, 1830, an actual test of speed was held between a horse and one of the pioneer locomotives, which did not result in favor of the locomotive. The race was on the B. & O., the locomotive being one built by Peter Cooper, who also acted as engineer.

The horse, a gallant gray, was in the habit of pulling a car on a track parallel to that used by the locomotive. At first the gray and the better of the race, but when he was a quarter of a mile ahead, Mr. Cooper succeeded in getting up enough steam to pass the horse amid terrific applause. At that moment a band slipped from a pulley, and "though Mr. Cooper lacerated his hands trying to replace it, the engine stopped and the horse passed it and came in the winner."—Van Norden Magazine.

The B. & O. railroad company is engaged in moving the big railroad bridge across the Clearfork at Bellville, on the Lake Erie division of the road. The bridge, which is located just east of Bellville depot, is one of the largest steel bridges on the Lake Erie division, and it will require some time to move it further down the stream so that it will not interfere with traffic. The road has been making a double curve because of the location of the bridge and it is to straighten the track that the bridge is being moved.

All the coal mines on the B. & O. railroad between Cambridge and Beltsville, with the exception of Seneca, and two others near Barnesville, started working full time Monday. For the past two weeks many of these mines have been idle, and some were in operation but about half time. A few of these mines along the Marietta division are still idle, but it is thought that they will resume operations some time this week.

Engines to be Repaired.

B. & O. engine 90 which has been doing duty as local yard engine for so long, was taken to Newark Monday, where it is to be thoroughly overhauled, before being sent out on the road, and engine No. 786 has been sent here as yard engine. Engine No. 786 is of the passenger type, and will be used both as yard engine and to assist passenger trains when the regular engines break down.—Cambridge Jeffersonian.

More Telegraph Operators Needed.

The B. & O. S. W. is looking for operators just now. On March 1 a law goes into effect requiring that three men shall be kept in each telegraph office and that no one man shall work longer than eight hours each day. The B. & O. S. W. intends to put the extra men in the service in February, a little in advance of the law. Twenty or more new men will be needed on that division.

Railroad Notes.

Owing to the public demand the railroad companies are beginning to publish their time cards in the newspapers of the country.

"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—rheumatism. It has been used with success in our family for eight years."—Mrs. L. Whiteacre, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Advocate's Evening Story

A COMEDY OF ERRORS.

 II. Augustus Williams stepped off a train in the suburban town of Q. He had left his office in the city at 4 o'clock p. m., an hour earlier than usual, to go to Q. on business. He had scarcely left the car platform when he heard a child's voice cry out, "Here he is, Aunt Lillian!" And a little boy of five came running toward him and jumped into his arms, exclaiming, "Papa, did you bring me what you promised?"

Nor was this all. A young woman, with a pleasant smile and a trace of surprise on her face, followed the boy, also addressing the astonished Williams in this wise:

"Why, Fred, where did you get that suit of clothes? I never knew you to wear brown before. And why in the world have you shaved off your mustache?" And she gave him a kiss.

"Mother, I'll be mighty glad to see you," chirped the boy. "She's been awful sorry ever since you've been away."

"You have made a mistake," said Mr. Williams, raising his hat to the lady. "Why, Fred, what can you mean?"

"I am certainly not this little boy's papa."

The lady looked troubled. "Oh, Fred," she gasped, "I do hope you haven't got one of those dreadful brain troubles. Don't you remember either of us? This is Tommy, your little boy, and I'm your sister Lillian."

"There is a great difference in being mistaken for the husband of some middle-aged, plain looking woman with a family ready made and receiving a sisterly kiss from a pretty young woman. Mr. Williams looked at the lady admiringly and said:

"What is the name of the gentleman you take me for?"

"Oh, dear, what shall I do?" she moaned. "This will kill Edith. To have such a shock after expecting so much happiness!" And she wrung her hands.

"What's the matter, papa?" said the boy, looking up anxiously.

"Carriage, Mr. Leland?" cried a cabman, driving up to the station and touching his hat.

"Yes, yes!" cried the lady. "We want a carriage at once."

There was absolutely nothing for Williams to do but get in the cab with the young lady and the boy.

"Thank, sir?" asked the cabman, closing the door.

"Never mind the trunk," said the girl impatiently. "We'll send for it. Drive us home at once. You know where. And get us there as soon as you can."

Mr. Williams resigned himself to his fate, whatever it might be. When the carriage stopped in a few minutes before a residence the young lady asked him to wait a bit. She evidently wished to prepare his "wife" for the blow that was about to fall. Had it not been that he was much struck with his "sister's" invitation to leave the hall had been repeated, when they left, only to surround the chapel building and indulge in a genuine war dance. The noise they made could be heard from one end of the village to the other, but they failed to disturb those taking part in the exhibition and the first circus passed off in a highly creditable manner. The program was as follows:

Oration, "The Attitude of President Roosevelt Toward the Trusts"—C. H. Kessler.

Essay, "Does Prohibition Pay?"—R. Clyde Ditto.

Essay, "The True and False in Christian Science"—Miss Gertrude Phillips.

Organ Solo, "Spring Time Sketch"—Miss Benedict.

ter and lunched to taste another of those delightful lunches he would have escaped. As it was, he waited till the lady came out, accompanied by the wife, weeping, and the gardener, who looked ready for business in case he became violent.

"My poor, dear husband!" she moaned. "How could it have happened?"

Putting her arms about him, she led him into the house, the gardener standing ready to help him along in case he resisted. When the patient was got into the hall he stood looking about him and exclaimed:

"Well, I'll be amazed!"

Then he heard the voice of his "sister" at the telephone "Dr. Swift?"

"Yes," Mr. Leland has come home with a loss of memory. Come round at once. "Oh, dear, how unfortunate!"

"Well, come as soon as you can."

Mr. Williams or Mr. Leland, whichever he was, was invited to go up to his wife's room, but not even the presence of the gardener could induce him to do so. He said he would remain in the library till the family should come to their senses. There, reclining on a lounge, he submitted to the endearments of his "sister," but manifested a singular repulsion to being caressed by his wife.

The train by which he had arrived was followed by one thirty minutes later. Ten minutes after his arrival he heard the front door open and a man's voice call:

"Edith! Edith! Tom! Where are you all?"

Mr. Williams drew a sigh of relief. Doubtless this was the real husband, father and brother. Then he heard a babel of exclamations in the hall, mingled with smacks. "Well, I declare!"

"What can it mean?" "Have I two papas?" "Thank heaven, there's been a mistake!" delivered by different persons.

There was a hurried conversation which subsided into whispers, and at last those in the hall filed into the library. Mr. Williams rose and stood, with a sardonic smile on his face. At the head of the party was a man the very image of himself, though dressed differently and wearing a mustache. The two Dromios looked at each other in astonishment.

"My family seem to have made a mistake, sir," said the real Mr. Leland. "I can hardly blame them."

"I am happy to have been mistaken for so handsome a man," replied Mr. Williams, bowing, with his hand on his heart.

The two women stood shrinking, with their arms about each other, looking back and forth between the two men. Finally Mrs. Leland, who had experienced a great relief, smiled. Her sister-in-law was thinking of the endearments she had bestowed upon the man she had claimed for her brother and did not smile. She rushed from the room. ANNE STONE SYKES.

Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed over the condition of the main road to Newark. But little work was done on this road the past year, and the farmers living along it were given no opportunity to work their road taxes as formerly. The new law does not find much favor, as the people have no choice in the supervision.

BRYAN of NEBRASKA

Intimate Character Study of the Man Who Has Twice Led the Democratic Party and Is Again a Candidate For the Presidency.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

IF William Jennings Bryan never becomes president of the United States it will not be due to lack of perseverance. He is surely the most persevering presidential candidate that ever came down the political pike. It is not related of him that, like Robert Bruce, he got his "if at first you don't succeed, try, try again" ideas from watching a spider. Mr. Bryan needs no such extraneous helps. He has a wellspring of persistence within him as big as a mountain freshet in June. He believes the American people want him for chief magistrate, and if they don't get him it will not be through lack of opportunity. Mere defeats will never prevent him from giving the deluded voters still another chance to retrieve their past mistakes and depart from the error of their ways. It will not be his fault if they still refuse to be saved from their political sins.

It has been reported from various points at which the Nebraskan has recently spoken that he believes not only that he will be re-nominated this year, but that he will be elected. At Danville, Ill., he stated this conviction in substance and gave it out that his opponent would be your Uncle Joe Cannon, who walks the streets of Danville when he is not treading on the necks of prostrate congressmen. If the prediction proves true, this land of the free and home of the trusts is in for the most spectacular, oratorical and gesticulatory campaign in the history of the world.

Mr. Bryan has accused President Roosevelt of stealing his clothes, but he would have no complaint of that sort to make of Speaker Cannon if Bryan of Nebraska, not of Florida, has about the most charming personality of any public man in America. Magnetic, witty, transparently sincere, without a grain of malice in his makeup, unpretentious and democratic, never giving way to anger and withal absolutely clean in his private and public life, he is as a man an honor to that Americanism of which he is so typical a product. One of the most admirable things about him is that he meets defeat without bitterness and bears abuse without resentment. It is the same quality in him that makes him so thoroughly enjoy a joke at his own expense.

This Bryan—the man apart from the politician—enjoys the esteem of all Americans. Even when they abuse his policies or ridicule his "paramount" issues they yet feel a certain secret pride in his genius and his character. Fortunately mere party lines mean less and less in this country and manhood means more and more. Bryan has manhood, and of a high type at that, a fact which all other real men are ready cheerfully to affirm. Whether he is ever president or not, he has won a place in the world's heart. After all, that may be a better and more enduring title to fame than the holding of any office whatsoever.

The Orator of Lincoln.

Bryan's enemies—and they are almost wholly political, not personal—charge that he is superficial; that he talks too much; that he runs for office too often. They alliteratively allude to him as the peerless, the peripatetic and the perennial. But they never have said that he lacks sincerity, candor or honesty. They assert he gogue. That term does not go with his makeup. He may be a bit theatrical, he may like to keep in the limelight, he may even be something of an unconscious poseur, but he must at least be given credit for believing what he says. As for the taunt that he is superficial, perhaps that may be said of all orators. It is no more true of Mr. Bryan than of others. He has shown the ability to grasp fundamentals and to state them in an effective and simple manner. He surely has the courage to say what he thinks, a virtue not possessed by all politicians. He is not afraid of the interviewer and never sidesteps an honest question. Nor has he that cheap and despicable habit found in some public men of talking for publication and then denying his statements, to the ruin of some poor scribbler. Bryan has always been popular with newspaper men. Without regard to party, they have rated him at his worth, and their judgment is by no means to be despised. Your average reporter is expert in detecting shams—he meets so many of them.

As for the accusation that Mr. Bryan runs for office too much, he could doubtless respond that the American people can get rid of this tendency by electing him, just as some girls free themselves from the importunities of a too ardent suitor by saying "Yes."

An Early Title.

Still another of the early characterizations of "the Commoner" has gone out of fashion. He is no longer called the "Boy Orator of the Platte." One reason is that he does not live on the Platte, but on Salt creek, the suggestive name by which the stream that flows through Lincoln is known. A second cause of the change is that it is hard to refer to a man who has lost most of his hair as juvenile.

One more fond delusion regarding the Nebraskan is likewise disappearing. He no longer is regarded as excessively radical. Bryan himself has always insisted that he is a conservative and has often said that some day his opponents would be forced to come to him to save them from the actual radicals they themselves had reared up—not entirely a bad prophecy in the light of some recent events, for most of the people of this country have not only advanced to the ground occupied by Bryan, but some of them have gone far beyond him.

There is one charge that the real radicals make against Mr. Bryan with some consistency—that, despite his great will power and undoubted courage, he has proved vacillating. They aver, for example, that he changed front on his support of Parker and on the government ownership of railroads. They say he has had too many "paramount" issues, only to cast them aside when they appeared unpopular. Is this the Achilles heel that will prove his ultimate undoing?

Congressman at Thirty.

Mr. Bryan was born the year of Lincoln's first election, 1850. He was valedictorian of his college class, studied law with Lyman Trumbull, went to congress at the age of thirty, sprang into national fame by a speech on the tariff and won his first nomination to the presidency at the age of thirty-six by a speech on free silver. He has been lawyer, editor, politician and lecturer. Once he narrowly missed being a preacher, and even now he says he would rather talk religion than politics. He was even a baseball pitcher, and a fairly good one. That was in his salad days, when he wore a beard to make him look older.

One of the notable characteristics of the Democratic leader is the lightning-like rapidity with which he makes decisions. He can say "No" as quickly and decisively as any man in public life. His fighting nose and jaw and his wide, thin-lipped mouth are not false alarms.

"Delight of the Chautauquas." Bryan's forms of recreation are farming—by proxy—shooting ducks and making speeches. His regular occupations are soliciting subscriptions for the Commoner and running for president. He tells good stories and has a new stock from his trip around the world. As the Emperor Titus was called "the delight of mankind," Mr. Bryan could be called "the delight of the Chautauquas."

Everybody knows, of course, about the Bryan country home. His farm on the outskirts of Lincoln is almost as famous as Horace's Sabine farm. The only difference is that Horace raised poetry on his place, while Bryan raises "aristocratic" beans.

Bryan's great antetype in history was Brutus—both orators and both defeated! Both also wrote about their travels, but Brutus' stuff was so platitudinous and commonplace that it has not survived. Mrs. Bryan was a classmate of her husband, and to help him she studied law and was admitted to the bar. She is that rare and delightful combination, an intellectual woman who is thoroughly domestic. One of the beauties of American civilization is the ideal home lives of our public men, and in this regard Bryan is near the summit.

This much can be said of William J. Bryan with truth: He is actually a great man. He is one of the first, if not the very first, of living orators. He is a potent moral force. He took advanced ground and has seen the country come to his principles. Those who are nearest to him know him to be white all through—brilliant, generous, kindly, manly and likable in every way.

But, as to whether he is ever to be president or not, that remains to be determined by fate, the Democratic party and the American electorate. Being in such hands, he is entitled to the pious prayer of the judge in delivering sentence, "And may God have mercy on his soul."

ALL EYES TURN TOWARD OHIO AT THIS TIME

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON WATCHING WITH INTEREST THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

Congress Will Probably Pass Financial Legislation—Washington Gossip.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Time is flying very rapidly in the Capital City. Congress has been in session six weeks and the principal motions put before that august body so far have been pertaining to its adjournment. Many currency bills have been introduced to correct the present financial condition of the country, and the mails of the Congressmen are flooded with pamphlets from men who have solved this great financial problem and who are offering an exposition of the same for their country's sake. The most famous currency measure introduced is "perhaps the Aldrich Bill, but this is said not to be a fair one, and will operate to benefit the eastern banker, and the conditions in the west will remain unaltered. Yet, it is thought that Congress will do something for the relief of the present situation, and a real genuine, honest currency bill will be enacted and confidence will be restored.

It is very unlikely that Congress will pass many decisive measures at the present session, for the coming Presidential election is hanging too close, and hence the party in power will not strike out wildly, else they miss their mark and fail. There will of course be the usual number of appropriation bills passed and these will be a great part of the labor and will remain to the glory of the 60th Congress.

It will not do to pass in oblivion the bill introduced in the House last week, which, if it becomes a law, the words "In God We Trust" will again be restored on all coins. There seems to be a difference of opinion between some of the Congressmen and our worthy President, and whether or not this inscription may be called sacrilegious will be determined by a vote of Congress and not by the lone word of "Teddy."

The United States Senate on Wednesday last demonstrated to the country that they were still a part of the governmental machinery when by a unanimous vote the Presidential appointees for postoffices in Ohio were rejected. That little clause in our constitution: "The President shall appoint to fill office only by and with the consent of the Senate," a limitation upon the power of the executive, was given a greater significance than ever before in many years. The Wiley Foraker had won the support of his colleagues and again pierced the President with his poisoned arrow of political hate.

The arena of politics is covered with a myriad of forms, Taft, the largest gladiator, is leading them all. His nomination on the first ballot has been predicted by his supporters, yet his opposition is increasing daily. In New York, he has an enemy in the cold conservative Hughes, in Ohio, in the crafty Foraker, who has blasted his chance of ever obtaining a solid delegation from his home state. It can be truly said that Ohio is the central point of interest in American politics, the state who has been the mother of so many Presidents is now nursing one of the fiercest quarrels in political history. She has surpassed New York even with her Tammany, and to say that you are an Ohioan in Washington will command a second notice. There is a strong undercurrent working for the nomination of Speaker Cannon and the fact that he is a favorite in the House and has a strong following among the members must not be overlooked, and his nomination at the Chicago convention would not be an impossibility.

On the Democratic side Bryan is pre-eminent; it is the belief that he will be nominated at the Denver convention with little or no opposition. Yet, the question arises will he ever be president? If he never reaches the goal, I believe I will not be challenged, if I would rank him with these illustrious statesmen, Clay, Tilden and Blaine, and in the words of the former: "I would rather be right than President" would truly apply to the Nebraskan whose sincerity is unquestioned by both parties.

Two officers before court in Germany.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—Accused of participation in the immorality charged by Editor Harden, of Die Zukunft, against other "Knights of the Round Table," General Count Hohenhausen and Major Count Lynar appeared in their own defense before a military court of inquiry today.

The two officers are specifically charged with abusing their authority as military commanders by forcing or inducing soldiers under them to participate in the misconduct of which Harden accused them.

CANTON SUES

WANTS DAMAGES IN SUM OF $4,000 AND PERMANENT INJUNCTION.

Carson Conducts Things With a High Hand and Zanesville Is Substituted—May Be Trouble.

Fort Wayne, Jan. 22.—A stormy session of the Central Baseball association, culminated yesterday afternoon in the filing of proceedings by the Canton owners for an injunction to restrain the league from expelling Canton and substituting Zanesville. A permanent injunction and $4,000 damages are asked for.

George A. Williams of Canton refused to withdraw from the league and rejected an offer of $1,000 for his franchise. The action, expelling him and substituting Zanesville followed immediately.

Frank R. Carson of South Bend was re-elected president, B. F. Perkins of Wheeling, vice president, and Elmer Redelle of Dayton, secretary. A five-year agreement was substituted for the three-year agreement.

Bude Myers, formerly manager for Canton, will probably take charge of the Terre Haute team and the other Cantoneses will be distributed among other teams.

Canton's ousting from the Central league will make possible the formation of a six-club circuit, embracing Akron, Youngstown, New Castle, Erie, Sharon and Canton.

TERRIBLE ITCH CAUSED BY SENILE ECZEMA, THE MOST OBSTINATE KIND, COMPLETELY CURED.

Physicians know that Senile Eczema results from imperfect circulation of the blood, due to old age. Its derivation explains why it resists treatment with the greatest degree of obstinacy. The skin is dry and parched and the blood-vessels are like mountain streams in a summer drought.

We present here one of the most gratifying testimonials to the curative powers of this wonderful system of treatment under severe test.

"For nine months I suffered with one of the worst cases of Senile Eczema the doctors ever knew. The itching was fearful—sleep for many days and nights impossible—in my bed. My doctor told me there was no cure at my age, seventy-three years. Neither could a number of the skin specialists in N. Y. City give any relief. Having heard of the great merits of PALMER'S 'SKIN-CURE' I tried it through numerous friends. I tried it, rubbing the ointment well into the skin from head to foot. The first application gave considerable relief, and in seven days the itching entirely ceased. Two ointment boxes cured me completely, and there has been no return of the trouble since. S. O. PRITCHARD, 101 West 84th St., New York, N. Y."

This great treatment positively cures all Skin Diseases—Eczema, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Erysipelas, Acne, Scall, Pimples, Blackheads, Ringworm, Tetter, Freckles and Ock Poisoning, Itching Affections, Piles, Burns, Bruises and Sores; also constipation and all liver and blood disorders.

RANSICK

WILL MANAGE SPRINGFIELD CLUB AND LEAVES FOR THERE AT ONCE.

Splendid Outlook for New Ohio State League and Will Start With Fine Financial Basis.

Columbus, O., Jan. 22.—Springfield's team, will be under the management of Ed Ransick of Cincinnati, according to announcement made by President Quinn, Tuesday evening.

Ransick was in Columbus and went to Springfield at 4 o'clock Tuesday to look over the ground. It did not take him long to make up his mind. He decided that the town is all right and said that he will take the team. Whatever assistance in financing the deal is offered by the fans and others interested in having a first class team in that city will be accepted and he will go ahead with the proposition himself.

The fact that Ransick is going to organize and manage the club makes it certain that Springfield will be well represented in the organization. She will have a good team and one that is managed in a businesslike manner.

Ransick has had a number of years' experience in the baseball business and is a competent man. He assisted a few years ago in the organization of the Virginia-Carolina league and last season was in the South Atlantic league, where he had the management of one of the teams.

The new manager will at once get to work lining up his men for the opening of the season and at the same time will be arranging the business end of the transaction.

Word from the other towns of the circuit is that everything is in good condition and it looks as though the clubs will start on a fine financial basis.

Difficult Breathing

Short breath, fluttering, palpitation, sinking spells are symptoms of a weak heart, struggling to do its work. It must keep the blood in circulation to carry nourishment, to make flesh, bone and muscle, and remove the worn-out particles. When it cannot do this, it must have help. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure gives strength to the heart nerves and muscles, and increases the heart action.

"I am glad to say that I am so much improved in health. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure cured me when several doctors failed. I think no other medicine could do for me what Heart Cure has done. My case was bad; but as it could be at times, I had difficulty in getting my breath, my heart beat so fast, times that I thought it impossible to live without relief. The pain was very severe in my left side, and my nerves were all unstrung. I had almost given up all hope of being cured, and I am sure I would not, if I had not taken the Heart Cure. I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Miles' remedies to all who suffer with heart disease." MRS. MARY C. HAHNER, Sullivan, Mo.

MR. AND MRS. W. J. BRYAN.

that gentleman happens to uncle his way into the Republican nomination. The sage of Danville would be so busy trying to get his opponent's scalp that he would have no time to bother about the Bryan wardrobe. Speaking of the theft of the Commoner's garments, it may explain one thing. The celebrated alpaca coat in which the "cross of gold" speech was made, and which constituted the most notable part of the Nebraskan's armor during "the first battle," has not been seen for many years. Was that also made away with during the president's sartorial raid?

Tom Watson says that even if Bryan's political duds were stolen it is but a case of the bitter bitten, as the peerless had already purloined them from the Populists. Watson, however, has a habit of rubbing salt into the wounds of his former comrade in arms.

A Result of His Tour.

Since his tour around the world William J. Bryan is one of the four most celebrated Americans, the other three being Theodore Roosevelt, Mark Twain and John D. Rockefeller. Roosevelt is famous for what he does, Twain for what he says, Rockefeller for what he has and Bryan for what he tried to get and didn't. The country only wishes that the Nebraskan's title to distinction also applied to John D.; but, so far as known, the oil king never attempted to get anything and failed, except hair. Rockefeller may find it difficult to count his dollars, but he has no such trouble in numbering the hairs on his head. This of course applies to hairs made by nature and not by the wig-maker.

There are 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 American voters who would like to see Mr. Bryan president and who will never say die. These are fond of quoting an old and familiar motto, fondly known of all boys, which runs to the effect that "the third time is the charm." His enemies regard this as the merest superstition and unfeeling respond with an adage equally celebrated, derived from the American game, "three strikes and out."

Aside from all badinage, William J.

is a failure at everything he ever undertook, but he certainly is not a failure in gaining the affectionate regards of millions of his own countrymen and other millions the world around. Measured merely by the world's standards of winning place or dollars, most philosophers and orators—and all poets—have been failures. Yet they shaped the thoughts and gladdened the hearts of the ages. Bryan may not quite measure up to the school of the penniless immortals, for one thing because he is far from being penniless himself, yet he has some of the qualities that wear well with the future. Liberty, democracy, righteousness, are waxing, not waning, and Bryan has never failed to strike these chords. Peace and brotherhood are very endurable sentiments, and he has lost no opportunity to extol both. The doctrines of the gentle Nazarene are about the most permanent things in this world, and the Nebraskan's voice has never been silent in their praise. The "man above the dollar" slogan is bound to grow more popular as the world becomes more humanitarian, and the orator of Lincoln has seldom neglected to lift his voice in that behalf.

Not a Sidestepper.

There is little heard any more of Bryan being a demagogue. Americans are fair minded, and they have seen that charge to be untrue. To this people truth is more than factional difference, a square deal is higher than partisanship. Selfishness ever charges altruism with being a demagogue. It merely measures a sentiment it does not understand by one that it does. It is hard to convince a grafter that there is such a thing as disinterested public spirit. There are even corruptionists who say that every man has his price. They are libelers of humanity. Every man has not his price, at least in the goods that buy the people who make this lying charge. The fellows who indulge in such cheap cynicism should join the swelling ranks of the Ananias club.

Whatever Bryan may be, the world now knows that he is not a demagogue.

MRS. ELIZABETH HUMPHREY EVANS HAS LIVED NEARLY A CENTURY

Newark possesses a very remarkable and interesting citizen nearly one hundred years old, in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Humphrey Evans, the aged mother of Mr. William Evans, the well known undertaker, who resides with him on North Fourth street. This remarkable woman was born on a farm near Transvynydd, Merioneth Shire, North Wales, on the 11th day of August, 1811, and was constantly 96 years old on the 11th of last August. She was married to William Evans, Sr., in Wales in 1840, 68 years ago, and in the following year emigrated to this country, residing one year in Rome, N. Y. In the spring of 1842, Mr. and Mrs. Evans came to Newark, where at that time was a village of less than 2,000 inhabitants, and Mrs. Evans has lived to see the town grow from that small beginning to a large and populous city. Since becoming a resident of Newark she has seen a nation pass through three great wars, the Mexican, the Civil and the Spanish-American war, and she has seen wonderful advancement in civilization and all the refinements of art that exceed the wildest tales of fiction.

ELIZABETH HUMPHREY EVANS.

After coming from Wales to Newark Mrs. Evans' husband worked for a long time as a carpenter in the old A. J. Smith distillery. Finally his health failed him and he was obliged to quit work here. In 1850 Mr. and Mrs. Evans purchased the house that she now lives in, but did not move there until 1853. In 1868 her husband died, and from that time until the present she has lived in the house, and is hale and hearty in her 97th year. She has been a life long member of the Welsh Calvinistic church, and was always active in its work, and even now, at her advanced age, still retains all her old time interest and enthusiasm.

FLOBERT RIFLES IN BOYS' HANDS ARE A MENACE

GRANVILLE LADS HAVE LATELY SECURED POSSESSION OF
MANY WEAPONS

And the Attention of the Mayor and Council is Called to the Danger.
Village News.

Granville, Jan. 22.—Not a few Granvillians who believe in good citizenship and in the proper education of youth for such citizenship, are much concerned over the violation of the law prohibiting the use of fire arms by mere lads. The small boy and the flobert rifle are much in evidence in and about Granville these days. And that is not all. The possession of a flobert rifle seems to stamp a boy with eminence among his associates, who, of course, are smitten with the ambition to become sportsmen themselves. And so, just as two or three boys with their pockets full of marbles can precipitate the marble playing season, we may expect the deadly flobert to multiply rapidly among our boys. This matter should give the mayor of Granville and perhaps other officers, some concern also. The law which aims to keep fire arms out of the hands of the small boy, is a good one, and should be enforced. No boy in a knickerbocker stage, is to be trusted with such weapons. Inevitably the carelessness, even recklessness of such boys, will tend to produce a good crop of accidents. If this law is not enforced, we may look for something more than broken windows, buried fingers and flesh wounds. The flobert rifle is capable of killing, as well as maiming. This menace, alone, is sufficient warrant for prompt and decisive action on the part of the mayor and marshal, and others. And among the "others" parents should be included. That parent is indeed indifferent to the future welfare of his son, who, either through ignorance of the law, or indifference as to its full enforcement, allows the son such license. How shall we expect our sons to develop a genuine regard for the law if the parents neglect their office in the home? This consideration alone should make every parent see that his sons obey this law against firearms.

The 21st of January is an early date for the first robin to make its appearance, but early Wednesday morning he was seen making himself at home around his familiar haunts and looking as care free as if there were no cold days to intervene before real spring appears.

Mrs. Charles Meadows of Toledo, who has been visiting friends in Newark for some days, was in the village Tuesday for a short time, on her way home.

Miss Ella Graham, a charming young lady of Chillicothe, O., who has been visiting relatives and friends here for a few days, returned home Wednesday.

Thomas Hildreth, a prominent business man of Cincinnati was here on business Tuesday.

Miss Erma Coe, who is studying piano with Mrs. Charles B. White of Granville, is one of the twenty-two more advanced pupils chosen to play in the Beethoven Cycle which Mrs. White has arranged. The Cycle will occupy ten Saturday afternoons and Miss Coe is to play "Eroica" with Mrs. White at the third meeting. Mrs. White formerly taught in the Granville Conservatory but now has a large class in Newark, being recognized as one of the most efficient teachers in this part of the state.—Coshocton Age.

TO FILL CANAL THROUGH CITY

BUSINESS MEN MEET AT BOARD OF TRADE OFFICE TO CON-SIDER THE MATTER.

Senator Atwell and Representative
Howard Will be Urged to Introduce Bill.

A largely attended meeting of business men was held Tuesday afternoon in the rooms of the Board of Trade. William H. Smith was made chairman and J. M. Maylone secretary. The object of the meeting was to take steps looking to the closing of the canal from First street to Sixth street in this city.

At the last session of the General Assembly a bill was introduced granting the city permission to fill up the canal between the points named. The city obligated itself to lay a pipe, sufficient in size to furnish water to the manufacturers, also to remove all filling provided the State should ever want to use the channel thus filled for canal purposes. This bill was not passed until near the close of the session and was not reached.

After remarks by Messrs. Edward Thomas, Fred Liser, W. A. Robbins and others, a resolution was passed requesting Attorney J. A. Flory and J. M. Maylone to visit Columbus to request Senator Atwell and Representative Howard to re-introduce this bill, and urge its passage. The canal as it is, is useless, a menace to health, very unsightly, and surely there can be no valid reason why the city should not be allowed to fill it up.

FLOTILLA SAILS FOR ARGENTINE FLEET FOLLOWS

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 22.—The torpedo flotilla sailed at 9 o'clock Tuesday night for Buenos Ayres. The departure of the little war vessels for the Argentine capital proved quite a surprise to the Brazilians, as it had been hinted from Washington that the flotilla would not visit Buenos Ayres, and that the battleship fleet would not sail in Argentine waters, but go on a direct course to the Straits of Magellan.

The American battle ship fleet will follow for Punta Arenas. Admiral Evans has been informed that a squadron of the Argentine navy will meet it at sea off Bahia Blanca to salute him.

The torpedo flotilla will be met by the Argentine flotilla at Flores and escorted to Buenos Ayres, where they will stay for four days.

The general court-martial found Surgeon Rand P. Crandall guilty of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline and falsehood. They sentenced him to lose eight numbers of his grade and be publicly reprimanded by the commander in chief. Five thousand Brazilians visited the warships at yesterday's farewell reception.

MAY SPRING A SENSATION

ON TRIAL OF BEN DICKERSON AND TOM MCCOY MAY BE ACCUSED.

Venerable Witness for the State May be Arrested—Wild Rumor of Plot to Blow Up Tunnel.

Millersburg, O., Jan. 22.—The progress of the Dickerson trial Tuesday was marked by the appearance of two sensational rumors that soon gained general circulation among the big crowds of witnesses, spectators and court attaches.

One of the rumors that looks as if it had a solid foundation is to the effect that when Tom McCoy, the star witness for the state, takes his place on the witness stand Thursday, he will be placed under arrest on a warrant, to be sworn out by the attorneys for the defense, charging him with the murder of Mrs. Kate Hughes.

Sheiff Browning of Coshocton county and Dickerson's attorneys were interviewed concerning the rumor, and although they declined to discuss the subject, they also refused to deny that they intended charging McCoy, who claims to have seen Ben Dickerson leading over the body of the murdered woman, with the crime itself.

Another story that is going the rounds was brought from Cooperdale by the witnesses who arrived here. It is to the effect that for some time it has been rumored in that neighborhood that a dark plot, with all the earmarks of a chapter in "The Life of Jesse James," has been hatched by friends of Dickerson. The plot, so it is said, is to blow up the tunnel at Tunnel Hill, through which the C. & A. C. train, carrying Tom McCoy to Millersburg, will pass Thursday.

No less than 50 witnesses from the Cooperdale vicinity have arrived here ready to take their places on the witness stand. Considerable progress was made in the trial Tuesday. Dr. McCain took the stand when court convened, and the taking of his testimony was finished in a short time. He was not cross-questioned.

Floyd Dickerson, the 21-year-old son of the accused, was next called to the stand and questioned as to what happened about the home on the day of the murder.

George H. Brown of Dayton, owner of the bloodhounds that tracked Dickerson to his home, was on the stand most of the morning. He was cross-questioned at length by Attorney Adams.

The quiet and peace loving citizens of Millersburg and Holmes county are becoming interested in the trial, and since the examination of witnesses has been started, the court room is picked daily.

MAN'S DEFENSE IS THAT WOMAN IS "FIRE LOVER."

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Adrian C. Honore, brother of Mrs. Potter-Patterson, and a member of Chicago's most exclusive clubs has announced a novel defense to the breach of promise suit for $20,000 brought against him by Miss Virginia Rowden. Through depositions filed in his behalf in the superior court, Mr. Honore answers the allegations that he toyed with the affections of Miss Rowden by the proposition that a woman who is an ardent follower of a "free-love" cult would not permit herself to be tied down by the bonds of conventional married life.
